The Nornalup and Walpole Marine Park lies in the heart of the Walpole Wilderness Area, offering some of the most spectacular scenery in the South West.

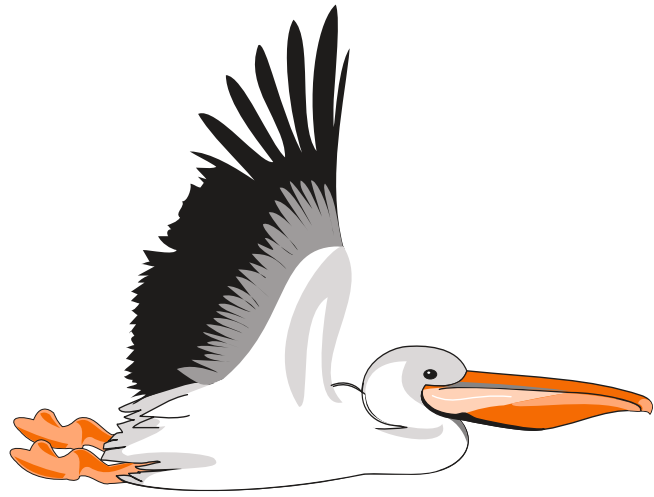

The inlets are fed by the Southern Ocean and the beautiful, pristine Frankland and Deep Rivers meandering through awe inspiring, majestic karri, jarrah and tingle forests thrusting up from the waters edge.

A haven for nature lovers and anglers, the inlets abound with many popular angling species such as King George Whiting and the prized Black Bream.

There can be no better way of absorbing the atmosphere of this paradise than from the mobile privacy and solitude of a houseboat, affording total independence to explore and enjoy this idyllic setting.

Walpole-Nornalup Inlets

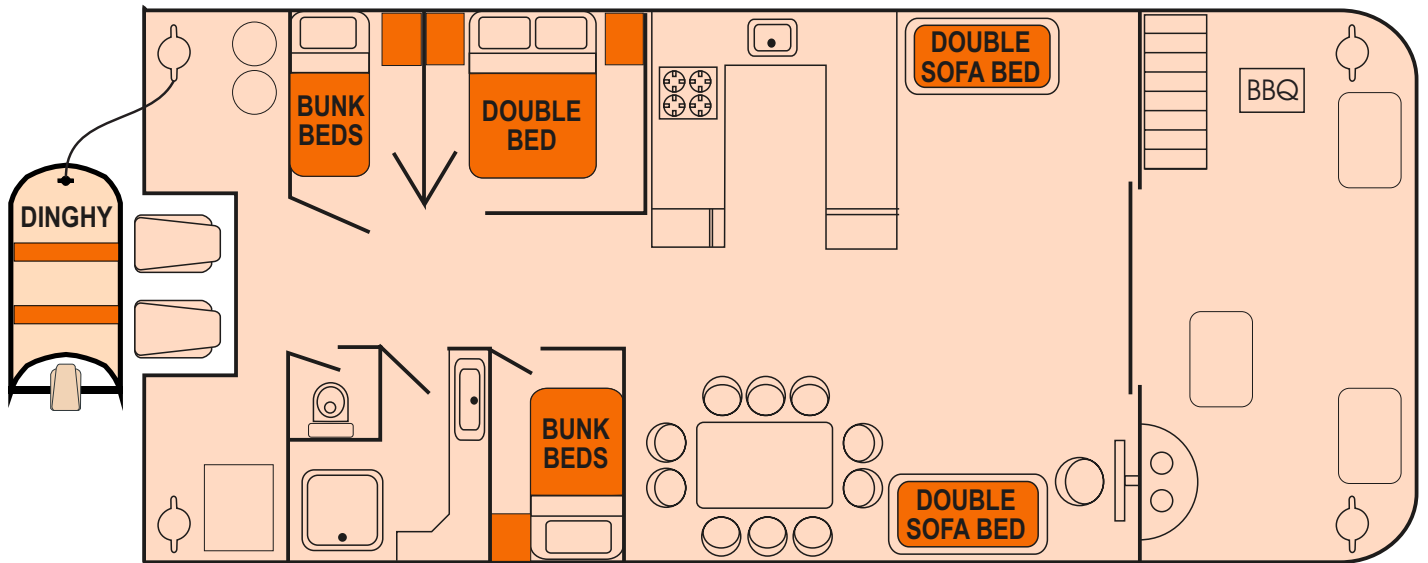

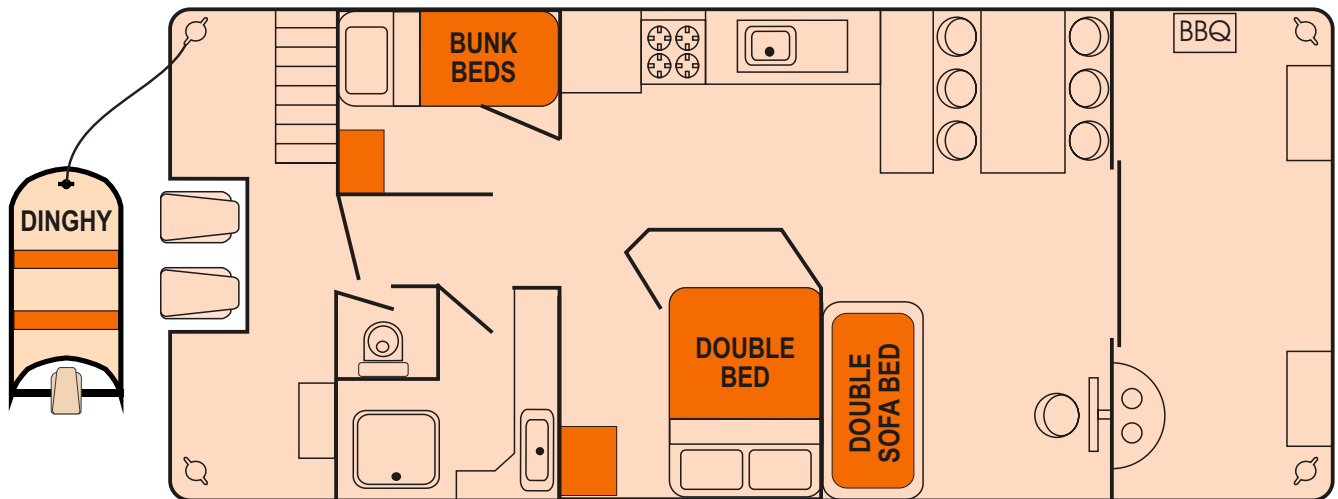

On boarding your houseboat, you will be given “hands on” instruction familiarising you with all you need to know regarding its handling and all other necessary procedures. A Recreational Skippers Ticket is an advantage, but a motor vehicle drivers licence is all that is required.

Each houseboat is luxuriously appointed with all the comforts of home plus an upper deck for outdoor relaxation. The motorised dinghy will enhance the adventure and allow access to the upper reaches of the unique and tranquil waterways of the Frankland and Deep rivers.
